

Stefan J. Kirchanski

Of Counsel – Los Angeles

Stefan J. Kirchanski focuses on patent prosecution and post-grant proceedings as well as patent litigation support. He has particular subject matter expertise relating to life sciences, pharmaceuticals, medical devices, electronics, robotics, communications, software, e-commerce and plants.

Prior to joining Zuber Lawler, Mr. Kirchanski was a partner at Venable LLP. Before entering law school, he was a research and development scientist for Ortho Diagnostic Systems Johnson & Johnson and BD Immuno-cytometry Systems Becton Dickinson. Before taking a position in industry he was a research fellow at Harvard University, and an assistant professor at The University of Texas at Austin.

Honors & Achievements

- Member, Los Angeles Intellectual Property Association, 2002-present.
- Member, American Chemistry Association, 2000-present.
- Member, American Intellectual Property Law Association, 1997-present.
- Member, American Society of Cell Biologists, 1997-present.
- Member, American Society of Plant Biology, 1974-present.

Email: skirchanski@zuberlawler.com

Phone: +1 213 596-5620

Education

Loyola Law School

J.D.

Harvard University

Research Fellow

University of California, Berkeley

Ph.D. in Botany

University of California, Berkeley

B.A., highest honors

Major: Botany

Bar Admissions

California

U.S. Patent Bar